Sea Eagles sinking claws back in third place

The Tathra Sea Eagles will look to consolidate their last round win and shore up a spot in the top four this weekend.

The Sea Eagles will head to Eden in top grade play to meet the Eden Whalers and will have a near full-strength list to choose from.

The Sea Eagles will have their full complement for the back line, while the regular midfield stars are on deck and ready to take control of the contest.

The Whalers are boasting a youthful boost to their senior side this season, but have still been unable to string together any wins so far.

After slipping to fourth place after a shock loss to the Breakers, the Sea Eagles will be focused on shoring up their ladder position.

The Breakers will meet the Lions this weekend and are likely to suffer a loss at the hands of the competition front-runners.

The anticipated outcome puts third place in the offing for the Tathra outfit, who will look to close out a runaway win over their Eden opponents.

It has been injuries that hurt the Eagles' mid-season efforts, while those still on deck have been hitting their straps well.

The club is served by one of the best midfield groupings in the league with Chris Dwyer, Troy O'Loghlin, Luke Taylor and Louis Coulton all showing fantastic form.

If Rick Spink can take charge in the ruck, the Eagles will settle in at the front lines with Dean Gartside putting in work in previous outings, while the side is hopeful to welcome back Blake Grant from a hand injury.

Meanwhile, the Eaglettes are unlikely to be fazed when they meet the Broulee/Moruya Giants on Saturday.

The Sea Eagles will welcome back nationals star and All-Australian Tarni Evans, while Cymmon Parker, Sam Crowley and Elouise Russell have also boasted remarkable form in recent outings.

The Tathra contingent has also welcomed the return of Chloe Pellow, who is proving versatile as a front-line attacker, or a rock in the back-lines.

The Giants boast pace, but will be hard-pressed to match the control shown by the Eagles in high-flying contests.

This will be the third-last round of home and away competition with the Sea Eaglettes holding a two-point lead over the Eden Whalers.

Meanwhile the senior Eagles are looking to reclaim third and lock in a home round when the finals begin.

The ladies will head to Tuross to meet the Giants at Kyla Park from 1.10pm on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the senior Eagles play at the Eden Cricket Ground at 2.30pm

Bermagui consoli-date third spot in the Sapphire Coast AFL

A 10-goal second half helped Bermagui shake off a determined Eden outfit in round 13 of Sapphire Coast AFL at Eden Football Ground on Saturday.

The Whalers's five-goal second quarter saw them trail by 21 points at the main change, before Bermagui flexed its muscle to win 18. 18. (126) to 7. 6. (48).

Jordan Merkel kicked three goals for Eden, with Tom Foat, Dylan Cox and Luke and Rhyse Grewer each contributing a goal.

At the other end Liam Russell's six majors earned him best afield honours, with Daniel Smith (five goals) combining with Russell to outscore the home side between them.

Dylan Wheeler was best afield for the Whalers, while Ngatiwai Hetaraka and Lokky Scott also featured among the better players.

Eden will again play at home next week when it hosts Tathra, while Bermagui will host ladder-leaders Narooma.

Round 14 Preview

Merimbula v Pambula

It's a big weekend for the Diggers this weekend with their MND awareness match which will see a number of high profile individuals going down the slide. The Diggers will be looking to claim the 4 points and will be confident after pushing the Panthers for three quarters in their last contest in Pambula. Tyson Nunn was able to push forward last weekend for the Panthers to kick 3 goals and with the Panthers playing in a number of low scoring games in recent weeks, multiple goal kickers for either side will be vital. Player to Watch: Reece Moulden, In his second full season of senior football, the young Digger has come into his own towards the back end of the season. Prediction: Pambula by 5 Points.

Eden v Tathra

The Whalers will be at home again this weekend as they take on Tathra. The Whalers were within three kicks of the breakers last weekend at half time and will be confident against Tathra with the likes of Corey Spinks, Dylan Wheeler and Joel Grewar available after the conclusion of the rugby league season. The Sea Eagles were back to winning ways last weekend in a 17 point win against Merimbula with Chris Dwyer playing a vital role through the Sea Eagles midfield. Player to Watch: Dylan Wheeler, The Whaler has only played a handful of games in 2017 although was Eden's best on the weekend playing a vital role in the midfield. Big body that uses the footy. Prediction: Tathra by 50 Points.

Bermagui v Narooma

Big weekend of footy for both clubs as the Breakers look to hold third spot whilst the Lions look to keep rolling in 2017. Narooma look like they could be without Jason Sauiluma due to a concussion after last weekends bruising match against the Panthers. The Breakers aren't without injuries themselves with Marcus Smith leaving last weekends game with a knee injury and Jack Dobell the week before with an ankle. Northern bragging rights will be at stake this weekend with the match to have plenty of great moments like past clashes between the two. Player to Watch: Chanse Donohue, Has been named for the lions against his old side of 2014/15. Prediction: Narooma by 18 Pts.

Women's

The round starts with the Giants hosting the Sea Eagles in Tuross. The Sea Eagles will be wary of the Giants who they have not yet played in 2017 as the Giants nearly caught out premier hopefuls Pambula last week. Tathra see's the return of U15 all Australian school girl Tarni Evans and her team mates will be looking to give her the best coming home gift. Sea Eagle Samantha Crowley has been in red hot form of late and will need to be shut down. In the second match up the Whalers look to have a relatively straight forward match ahead against the Bega Bombers. The Bombers are yet to get a win this season and if they are this weekend they will need to shut down the likes of Carra Sheldon, Kamilla Grubesic and the Mitchell sisters. In the final matchup this weekend the Breakers host the Lions with Bermagui sitting 4 points behind fourth placed Narooma. A win for the Lions this weekend will see the side all but lock in fourth place. Narooma will be without Elly Hawkey with a foot injury although strong performances in recent weeks from Lara Stephens and Meagan Mackie see the Lions go into this match as favourites. Merimbula and Pambula both have the bye this weekend. Player to Watch: Kristelle Westbrook, The young Giant has started to play some great football in recent weeks and will need to play a vital role this weekend if her side is to put in a big performance this weekend. Prediction: Eden, Narooma & Tathra.

Development

The Giants continue to hang onto a top four place based on percentage and it looks like next weeks match between them and the Diggers will be key in either side making the finals. The Giants host Narooma this weekend who will be looking to sure up a top 2 spot with Tathra having the bye this weekend. Coming off the bye the Lions will be raring to go which could spell danger for the Giants. In the second match, the Diggers host the Panthers who are on fire in 2017. Tom Hammond and Ian Smith have been huge for the Panthers up forward and look to be battling it out for the goal kicking award in the final three games. Prediction: Narooma & Pambula.

Under 16's

The Giants are surging towards the back end of the season defeating the Panthers last weekend to take second spot on the ladder and the club will be looking to back up that great result with another this weekend against Narooma. The Giants were able to win last weekend without key man Buster Ware with the likes of Lachlan Brennan, Theo Turner and Bill Williams having big games. Narooma has locked in fourth place although a poor percentage doesn't see the side breaching the top two. In the second matchup the Diggers host the Panthers in a huge game for both clubs. The Panthers will be looking to bounce back from a disappointing performance last weekend although the Diggers hold the head to head against the Panthers. This is set to be one of the biggest matches of the round. Player to Watch: Kendall Mylan, One of the Panthers towering tall's needs to assert himself in the final rounds. Mylan is one of the leaders of the team who will give his all. Prediction: Pambula & Giants.

Under 13's

Bermagui flexed their muscles last weekend against the Eden Whalers with a big win and 9 individual goal kickers. Campbell Moresi was a key performer off half forward last weekend whilst Raymond Campbell was dynamite in the forward pocket for the Breakers. The two forwards will be key to this weekend's matchup against the Lions who have been improving week in, week out in 2017. Narooma want to be key players come finals time and pushing the Breakers this weekend will be an important step in the teams development. In the second matchup the Whalers host the Bombers looking to claim win number two for the season. This is shaping up to be a big match between the two sides and the Butchers brothers should help the Bombers get the 4 points. Player to Watch: Jake Hemsted, One goal and one of Bermagui's best last weekend. His first game in two months Hemsted is set for a big three weeks before the finals kick off. Prediction: Bermagui & Bega.

Under 11's

A big upset last weekend saw the Bombers claim the four points against second placed Narooma to stay in contact with the top 4. Last week's win will mean nothing if they can't back it up against Eden this weekend as the Bombers finish the season with 3 winnable matches. The Whalers boast one of the best players in the league in Jemma Pollock and she will be looking to spoil the Bombers run towards the finals. In Tuross the Giants have a winnable match this weekend against Tathra. The Sea Eagles had a good performance against ladder leaders Merimbula last weekend and the side will be a big test for fourth placed Giants this weekend. A matchup to watch in this one will be Tasman Simons and Jardy Palmer in the middle. In the final game the Breakers host Narooma in what is now a hotly contested second spot. A win for the Breakers will see the sides draw level on points with Bermagui having the easier run home of the two sides. One of the matches of the round. Player to Watch: Rahul Mudaliar, Played a great game against Bermagui last weekend picking up plenty of possessions. Prediction: Bega, Giants & Narooma.
