GOOD START NOT ENOUGH FOR SEA EAGLES

A blazing start to Saturday's fixture against the Pambula Panthers wasn't enough for the Tathra Sea Eagles.

The visiting Sea Eagles had taken charge to lead by 20 points at the first break, but the Panthers soon found themselves back in competition to end Tathra's season 17-15-117 to 9-7-61.

Club veterans Luke Taylor and Troy O'Loughlin did turn in the best efforts for the Sea Eagles in a one and two on the best on ground poll, leading the charge for the Tathra goal-scoring.

Taylor slotted five majors, while O'Loughlin put his name on two.

However, it wasn't enough as the Panthers fought back through Justin Pilgrim and Sean Smith with the latter dominating the scoreboard up front for the home roster.

Smith kicked five, with Finley Cook adding three and Corey Tucker a double.

The opening quarter had seen immense pressure placed on both teams' defensive lines as possession swayed wildly end-to-end, but it was Tathra breaking free to lead 25-5 with four goals, while the Panthers could only muster a handful of behinds.

Against a stiff cross-ground breeze, the Panthers rallied in the second quarter to keep Tathra quiet and then surged ahead to lead 90-46 in the third quarter.

Tathra young guns Tom Lipsham, Billy Stubbs, Zac Harlow and Louis Coulton were heavily involved in play as well, but Pambula's experienced heads prevailed on the day.

The club thanked everyone for their efforts throughout the year, but said it was an unfortunate end to the run for the seniors.

SEMI FINAL PHOTOS OF THE WEEK...

EVANS NAMED SESA AUSSIE RULES PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Tarni Evans has a bright future in the rapidly growing women's AFL.

The Bega teen was named the South East Sporting Academy's Player of the Year and Players' player from the under 16s women's squad that trained in Queanbeyan.

Assistant coach and manager of the squad Steve Miller said Tarni had exceptional on-field skills, but also an excellent off-field demeanor and approach to the game, which was promising for her future.

"In terms of raw physical skills, her kicking ability is elite, she's got an excellent vertical leap and is hard and aggressive at the ball," Mr Miller said.

"But she also has a fantastic manner, her coach-ability, the way she goes about play and her football sense."

Tarni said she was one of four girls travelling from the Far South Coast to take part in the 20-week program and was stunned to accept the accolades.

"I was surprised, but stoked to get Player of the Year and Players' player," she said. "It was such a fun and helpful opportunity that I learnt so much from."

"The SESA academy was so good, we had the opportunity for a camp at Jindabyne, and a competition at Newcastle as well as access to the AIS gym and training."

Mr Miller said Tarni had been a "significant contributor" to the SESA outfit's undefeated run to be named state champions and one of the seven players from the squad named to take on Victoria in a national rep clash.

"It was the first time in history there had been a national match in that 16s age group. Tarni was key at centre half-forward and also defensively," Mr Miller said.

Thanks to an anti-congestion rule, players were required to compete in each zone and Tarni's immense kicking reach proved pivotal both up front and from the centre half-back role, where she provided counter-attack and long range punch to the NSW roster.

Tarni said each of the players had been given an individual kicking analysis and plans to improve their game.

Mr Miller said the Bega teen had been incredibly responsive to the program and showed good growth. "The good thing about the AFL is we now have a final destination with the AFLW," Mr Miller said.

He said Tarni's consistent work ethic and stunning ability demonstrated "she is definitely on a pathway for greater things".

Tarni will be eligible for the Youth Girls Nationals next year and the AFLW combine draft in 2020. "Should she continue her form and development - there's no reason she shouldn't position herself for that draft combine."

Nominations have opened for the coming round of the SESA program, with trials to be held on September 12.

Semi Final Preview

Seniors

Narooma v Merimbula

The Lions have deserved the home semi final this weekend after winning 12 straight games after dropping their round 2 clash with the Diggers in Merimbula. The Lions have been the form team in 2018 and come into this weekend's contest at full strength and will be looking to move on to the grand final in two weeks with a win this weekend. On the other hand, Merimbula have been hit by the injury bug in recent weeks with Will Regan to remain out with a broken collarbone whilst backman Nick Forester is also out with an arm injury. In recent contests against the Lions, the Diggers have been unable to kick a score that has trouble Narooma with the Lions possessing the likes of Jai Reed, Simon Mackie, Jeremy Sly and Clifford Taylor up forward that has regularly seen Narooma kick 100+ points in their games. If Merimbula are to shut out these threats they will need to hit the scoreboard down the other end to give themselves a chance of causing an upset. Player to Watch: Luke Talty, a tough inside midfielder, Talty sees plenty of the footy week in and week out. Merimbula will need to watch Talty closely as he has the ability to drift forward and kick handy goals from the midfield. Prediction: Narooma by 30 Points.

Reserves

Merimbula v Pambula

The reserve grade game is set to see the two southern rivals in Merimbula and Pambula go head to head this weekend. The Diggers have been the front runners all season although that is set to be challenged this weekend with Pambula set to give the Diggers a close contest. Look for this match to go down to the wire. Player to Watch: Ethan White, White has been one of Merimbula's best this season and will be looking to continue his good form this weekend. Prediction: Merimbula by 10 Points.

Women's

Eden v Pambula

After sitting in third for the majority of the season, the Pambula Panthers jumped into the major semi final in the final week of the season and will take on minor premiers Eden this weekend. The Whalers have claimed the two wins between the two sides this season although the two clubs haven't faced each other since round 6. Since that round 6 loss, the Panthers have only lost one other game for the season and with the likes of Claudia Ferguson, Annie Gilbert and best and fairest Amy Hodgson, the Panthers are set to test the Whalers this weekend. The two time premiers don't have a great record on Bill Smyth Memorial Oval and the team will be looking to turn that around this weekend as they look to progress to their third straight grand final. Talia Westley, Carra Sheldon and Melissa Mitchell will be key players for the Whalers in the middle. Players to Watch: Kiarna Woolley-Blain and Kamilla Grubescic, the two clubs leading goal kickers will be looking to kick a bag this weekend. Prediction: Eden by 14 Points.

Semi Final Preview

Under 16s

Narooma v Bermagui

In a highly competitive under 16's competition this weekend's game has a lot to live up to after last weekend's match that had the fans on the edge of their seats for four quarters that saw Merimbula claim a tight 4 point win. The Lions and Breakers will leave nothing out on the field this weekend as both sides look to avoid a preliminary final matchup with the in form Merimbula Diggers next weekend. With the majority of players going to school with each other day in and day out, both sides have great knowledge of each other and bragging rights for Monday are up for grabs. Both clubs have injury clouds of key players for this weekend with Narooma's Harrison Bromwich and Bermagui's Jai Curven both likely to take the field Saturday, although their impact may be limited due to minor niggles. Rocco Lagana has been key to the Breakers success in 2018 whilst Scott Parsons has been a great complementary piece to the team going forward. With the majority of Lions still eligible for 16's in 2018 players like Thomas Hodge, Rory Spurgeon and Matthew Parker will be key if the Lions are to progress straight to the grand final. Player to Watch: Rory Spurgeon, Narooma's ruck man has had a really good season and has gotten better week in and week out in 2018. It will be a good match up between Spurgeon and Jai Curven in the ruck this weekend. Prediction: Narooma by 2 Points.

Bermagui v Pambula

Last weekend saw the biggest upset of the weekend in the under 14's with Merimbula defeating Broulee Moruya, could that happen again this weekend between the minor premiers Bermagui and last years premiers Pambula. The two teams have had some tight contests in 2018 and this weekend will be no different as both teams look to avoid Merimbula next weekend. The Breakers lead into this years finals series on a high with solid wins against Broulee Moruya in the final two matches of the season. The Panthers will be without key player Jai VanCamp this weekend as he heals from a broken hand. With VanCamp out, the likes of William Seach, Sean Armstrong and Billy Cooke will need to shoulder more of the load if the Panthers are to cause an upset against Bermagui. The Breakers will again be reliant on the likes of Campbell Moresi, Jonathan Harkins-McMahon and Tom and Matthew O'Meara as they look to kick a score that will be hard to beat. Player to Watch: Will Kellar, has had a quieter season in 2018 compared to 2017 although will look to have a big finals series. Prediction: Bermagui by 19 Points.

Under 12s

Narooma v Merimbula

The top of the table clash in the under 12's is set to be an enthralling contest between the Narooma Lions and Merimbula Diggers. The two teams have been the two form teams of the competition in 2018 and both teams will not want to be taking on 2017 premiers Bermagui next weekend. The Lions finished as minor premiers and home field advantage will be key this weekend as the team will look to take advantage of the early start time to get a jump on their southern rivals. Narooma claimed the four points the last time these two met although the Diggers know that if they bring their best football they can claim victory this weekend. Merimbula have plenty of A graders that Narooma will need to watch including the likes of Beau Bennett, Walter Blewitt and Tom Miller who can change the complexion of a game. On the other side Narooma have the competitions premier ruckman in Jarra Weston who will be able to provide his midfielders in Tom Wilson, William Tiffen, Logan Allison and Lachlan Druhan with first use of the football. Player to Watch: Ryan Simper, The Lions forward claimed the leading goal kicking award for the club and will be looking to hit the scoreboard this weekend. Prediction: Narooma by 8 Points.
